Actions to stop doing:

It seems like the scrum board is not really being used and there what people are working on is not being communicated effectively. To fix this the scrum master should take pics of scrum board and display them in discord. This will potentially fix the overlapping tasks problem.

Actions to start doing:

1. The scrum board needs to be checked and updated more often and also sent to discord as a reminder so that people know what tasks are being worked on.

Actions to keep doing:

1. Scrum meetings so far have perfect attendance and are constrained within the 15 minute range.
2. Communication via text is very good and should still be kept for issues that need immediate responses.
